

The Start of Something New.

Our temporary workplace study is in full swing, so you might notice some sensors around the space.

But don't worry—nothing about you, personally, is being tracked or recorded. The information these sensors collect is completely anonymous and non-identifying.

The sensors' sole job is to help us understand how well our environment is operating, so we can make it work better for you.

To learn more, go to steelcase.com/steelcase-workplace-advisor-study-customer-toolkit.